It was the day of Holi festival. Group of village boys gathered under a neem tree. They were playing and throwing dust at one another. Amrit and Isab came walking arm in arm and joined them. Both were wearing new clothes stitched that very day. Identical in every respect, cloth size and method the boys were in the same class in the same school and lived in houses facing each other at the corner of the street. The boy's parents were farmers owning about the same size of holding and occasionally had to borrow money from the money lender to tide over difficult times. The two boys had everything in common except Amrit had both parents living and three brothers whereas Isab had only his father. The two boys came and sat on the pavement. Seeing them identically dressed one boy had mischievous idea. 'Why don't you two have a wrestling match ? We can see whether you are also equal in strength or whether one is tougher than the other,' he said. The first boy thought that to be a good idea and added, "Yes, Amrit and Isab. Let's see which of you can get better of the other. Come on!" Shouted the boy for fun.
